Syllabus

Session 1: September 22
Instructor: George Atwood, Ph.D.

Readings:

Session 2: October 27
Instructor: Stuart Pizer, Ph.D., ABPP

(My first published paper, chapter one of my book, the ground where my thinking begins, and two concepts that remain central for me: negotiation and paradox)

(Briefly summarizes my view of multiplicity, the development of a capacity to tolerate and bridge paradox, and dissociation)

(Written in 2005, I actually presented this paper at ICP, I believe in the fall of 2005, on a panel with Barbara and with Phil Ringstrom discussing. This paper is a lot about me, about my grandfather--who ran a newsstand--as an analytic "natural" who gave me relationally the basis of what I could call my psychoanalytic credo.)

Pizer, S. The Analyst’s Generous Involvement.

Session 3: December 1, 2012
Instructor: Malcolm O. Slavin, Ph.D.

