VENTURA COUNTY SATURDAY SERIES
“Beneath the Surface - Lasting Change”

CLASSES BEGIN SEPT 12, 2015
APPLICATION DEADLINE IS AUG 28, 2015

ABOUT THE PROGRAM:
The Institute of Contemporary Psychoanalysis Ventura County Saturday Series offers classes in contemporary psychoanalysis to both licensed therapists and those in training who are not yet licensed.

All courses are taught by ICP psychoanalysts and upper level candidates who have extensive experience and expertise in contemporary psychoanalytically informed psychotherapy. The Series will introduce contemporary psychoanalytic ideas from various theories through clinical issues and case presentations. The Series will assist the student with understanding some of the key psychoanalytic processes as well as contemporary psychoanalytic sensibilities in treatment. The presentations will be discussed in a group format to explore the students' application of learning to their own clinical practice.

Classes will meet for ten sessions from September through May on the second Saturday of the month from 10 am to 12:30 pm in Ventura County. The Ventura County Saturday Series can be taken as a stand-alone course of study, and it can also serve as an educational platform for advancement into higher levels of psychoanalytic training, including the Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy Certificate Program and the full Psychoanalytic Doctoral Training Program.

WHAT IS CONTEMPORARY PSYCHOANALYSIS?
Contemporary psychoanalysis is an interpersonal experience that emphasizes the healing properties of two or more people collaboratively making sense of life in ways that are meaningful to the client. Unlike traditional psychoanalysis which holds the analyst as an authority regarding what is true about the client, contemporary perspectives emphasize the meaning of the client’s unique and subjective experiences.

Based on current psychoanalytic studies plus research in child development, memory, neurobiology, and culture, contemporary psychoanalysis is an advanced method for making sense of ourselves and the world around us.
