The Institute of Contemporary Psychoanalysis doctoral programs are designed for licensed professionals who are currently employed in the field and are already working 35-60 hours/week under their current license. The program provides them with advanced training that is designed to enhance and deepen the work they already do. Because of the fact that all our candidates are either employed full-time, part-time, and/or self-employed, the program is set up to allow students to complete the program at a more reasonably accepted and realistic pace. Students complete their seminars within 4-5 years depending on whether they are part-time or full-time. The requirement to psychoanalyze three patients is completed in a different amount of time for each student due to the availability of patients (the program makes low fee patients available to all students should they wish to take on these patients). The final requirement for the program is a dissertation research project. Traditionally psychoanalytic institutes have not rigidly adhered to a set completion date. However, the institution is currently considering a time limit for this requirement.

Students are entitled to a list of the objective sources of information used to substantiate the salary disclosure. To obtain this list, please ask an institutional representative where to view this list.

Please Note:

There are no known objective sources that provide information on salaries of psychoanalysts; therefore such information is not available to candidates/students. Training and supervising analysts are able to offer anecdotal information on salaries of graduates of psychoanalytic institutes.

The Institute of Contemporary Psychoanalysis is not privy to this information. Candidates (students) who attend The Institute of Contemporary Psychoanalysis are employed/self-employed licensed mental health professionals independent of their candidacy status at the institute. The Institute of Contemporary Psychoanalysis cannot make any claim as to the annual starting wages or salaries of graduates of the Ph.D. Program. The Institute of Contemporary Psychoanalysis does not make any express or implied claim about the salary that may be earned after completing the Psychoanalytic Training Program. The goal of psychoanalytic education has traditionally been to offer those in the field of mental health and medicine an opportunity to acquire advanced skills. It is not designed for candidates to increase their annual income or get an advanced position in the mental health field. One cannot be licensed or hired as a psychoanalyst. There are no known hospital/agency positions for psychoanalysts because one either continues in their private practice or in their position as a licensed mental health practitioner.

Definitions

1. “Number of Students Who Began Program” means the number of students who began the program who are scheduled to complete the program within the reporting calendar year, and includes all the students who remained enrolled after their cancellation period.

2. “Students available for graduation” is the number of students who began program minus the number of students who have died, been incarcerated, or been called to active military duty.

3. “Graduates” is the number of students who completed the program within 100% of the program length.

4. “Completion Rate” is the number of Graduates divided by the Number of Students Available for Graduation.

5. “150% Graduates” is the number of students who completed within 101-150% of the program length.

6. “150% Completion Rate” is the number of students who completed the program in the reported calendar year within 101-150% of the published program length divided by the Number of Students Available for Graduation in the published program length period.

7. “Graduates available for employment” means the number of graduates minus the number of graduates unavailable for employment. “Graduates unavailable for employment” means the graduates who, after graduation, die, become incarcerated, are called to active military duty, are international students that leave the United States or do not have a visa allowing employment in the United States, or are continuing their education in an accredited or bureau-approved postsecondary institution.

8. “Graduates employed in the field” means graduates who are gainfully employed in a single position for which the institution represents the program prepares its graduates within six months after a student completes the applicable educational program. For occupations for which the state requires passing an examination, the period of employment must begin within six months of the announcement of the examination results for the first examination available after a student completes an applicable educational program.

9. “Placement Rate Employed in the Field” is calculated by dividing the number of graduates gainfully employed in the field by the number of graduates available for employment.

10. Number of Students Taking Exam is the number of students who completed the program within 150% of the published program length and who took the exam in the reported calendar year for the first time.

11. Exam Date is the date for the first available exam after the students completed the program.
12. Passage Rate is calculated by dividing the number of students who passed the exam by the number of graduates who took the reported licensing exam.

13. Number Who Passed First Exam Taken is the number of students who took and passed the licensing exam in the reported calendar year on the first attempt.

14. Salary is as reported by the student. Not all graduates report salary. A list of the employers of the Graduates Employed in the Field can be obtained from the graduates.
